Filing Description:

On 4/6/2012, your Department approved our Early Access Option Rider form MLIU- SPIA-510-1 (07/12). Since that submission, we discovered there was a typographical error in the first sentence of Annuity Purchase Rate Provision where we omitted the phrase 'of $1.00' after "to provide Income Payments." In order to correct this error, we are submitting the attached corrective endorsement, form MLIU- SPIA-510-1-CE (07/12), which we will mail to inforce customers. Additionally, we will correct the typographical error in form MLIU-SPIA-510-1 (07/12) for new issues.

ENDORSEMENT

This Endorsement is made a part of the Contract to which is attached and is effective as of the date it is attached to the Contract. In case of a conflict with any provisions of the Contract, the provisions of this Endorsement will control.

This Endorsement amends the Early Access Option Rider attached to the Contract as follows:

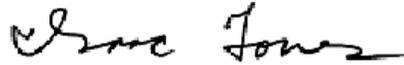

The Annuity Purchase Rate provision in the Early Access Option Rider is replaced with the following language:

Annuity Purchase Rate

Means the dollar amount required by Us to provide Income Payments of $1.00 for each remaining Income Payment Date to the Liquidity Period End Date, as shown on the Contract Schedule Page. The Annuity Purchase Rate is specific to the Income Type and reflects the remaining Income Payments in the Liquidity Period, as shown on the Contract Schedule Page, and the survivorship of the remaining annuitants, if applicable. The Annuity Purchase Rate is determined using the Discount Rate, shown on the Contract Schedule Page and, if applicable, the mortality basis in effect at the time the Contract is issued. The Discount Rate used during the Liquidity Period has been determined based on Your class of contracts. Mortality basis is used to determine the Annuitant's life expectancy. The mortality basis is not used if the Income Type, shown on the Contract Schedule Page, includes a Guarantee Period.

All other terms and conditions of the Rider and Contract remain unchanged.

MetLife Investors USA Insurance Company has caused this Endorsement to be signed by its [Secretary].
